PETITION FOR TRANSBAY EXTENSION WITHDRAWN BY WESTERN PACIFIC

Company Financially Unable to Build New Improvement

Local towns along the recently proposed Western Pacific transbay extension from Niles to San Francisco were disappointed last week to hear that the Western Pacific company of California recently applied to the state Railroad Commission for the withdrawal of its petition for the proposed construction.

Having been granted the right to construct the proposed line in January, 1931, the parent Western Pacific company finds itself financially unable to carry the project through it is said. The original petition was granted by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Original plans for the construction called for the extension of the Western Pacific lines from Niles, across the San Francisco bay to San Francisco. Enthusiasm ran high in southern Alameda county when the project was apparently assured, as hopes for new industrial developments were born.

The proposed construction of right of way, bridge approaches and bridge were to have cost in the neighborhood of 8 millions. Later developments, in which it was suggested that the Western Pacific might use the Southern Pacific Dumbarton bridge, reduced the estimated expense to 3 millions.

The proposed Niles - SanFrancisco construction had been under consideration for several years previous to the time the official sanction was given. The interstate Commerce commission had debated on the proposal for two years. Vigorously opposed by the Southern Pacific company the first petition had been denied, but the Western Pacific company won a rehearing which later resulted in the approval given in January, 1931.

It is expected that all plans for the extension have been abandoned for an indefinite time.

FALLING DERRICK BOOM INJURES NILES MAN

Caught under a falling boom that had given away beneath the weight of a large pipe section, M. S. Sharp, of Niles, was seriously injured last Thursday night at the Irvington Portal of the Hetch Hetchy pipeline.

After being extricated by fellow workers, Sharp was rushed to the offices of Dr. E. C. Grau, Niles physician, in the Botelho ambulance. It was learned that Sharp's injuries were more serious than at first surmised, and he was taken to the San Jose hospital. He was suffering from a fractured skull. His condition was not considered hopeless, it is said.

THIEVES LOOT TWO NILES SCALES THURSDAY

Evidently eager to garner the few pennies deposited by those who watch their weight, petty thieves last Thursday night smashed open and looted two standing scales on First street.

D. M. Carvo's scale, a tall white device, was discovered in the middle of the sidewalk Friday morning. The back of the machine had been pried off and the penny box was missing. Besides taking the change the thieves rendered the scale useless.

On the same night, the scale in front of the Sprouse-Reitz store was broken open and a few pennies taken. No suspects have been taken.

The scale robberies Thursday night swell the number of similar thefts to three in the past two weeks. The Walton Drug store scale was smashed a short time ago.

PLANTING SEASON IS UNDER WAY THIS WEEK

Dotting the brown landscape of southern Alameda county last week, steaming, new-plowed fields appeared as energetic farmers took advantage of the late rains and the later frosts, to plant their peas. The greatest activity is in the Warm Springs district, where the gentle slope up to the hills has been cultivated.

On the hill front north of Niles, ranchers have been busy, and it is expected that the planting will cover a wider hill area next spring than was used last.

To be taken as a possible barometer of the hopes of local agriculturists is the cultivation of land that has been idle for many years. The best example of this is on the precipitous slope just south of the mouth of Niles canyon.

CHRISTMAS SALES EXCEED 1932 LEVEL

Echoing the sales increase that this Christmas season has gladdened the hearts of merchants in the large bay cities, Niles last week teemed with shoppers. Merchants in the town state that sales swelled about 30 per cent over those of last year at this time. Significant to note this season, according to store proprietors, was the increase in the sale of so called luxuries. Shoppers that heretofore during the depression held only to the strictest necessities last week loosened their purse strings enough to overwork the post office staff with heaps of out-bound gifts. The food stores in Niles reported steady sales of the fancier articles last week.

Toward the end of last week, the traffic in Niles reached proportions that almost called for corner policemen. Parking was at a premium on first street.

STABILIZATION OF APRICOT INDUSTRY LAUDED BY GROWERS

Brentwood, Santa Clara Districts Approve of Market Plans

A thorough stabilization of the apricot industry will be realized by the time of the next harvest in California, if the Brentwood district and Santa Clara valley growers have anything to say about it, according to reports issued last week from meetings held in both of those places.

Meeting at San Jose last week, Santa Clara valley 'cot growers voted to support the Federal Adjustment administration plan hatched at a meeting in Berkeley recently. Representatives from the district will be sent to a conclave to be held soon at which five growers will be chosen to represent the soil end of the industry. Brentwood representatives have likewise been appointed.

As far as can be determined at the present time no effort has been made in Washington township or in southern Alameda county to follow along in the general movement toward stabilization. Other districts look for the support of the Niles area in forthcoming developments.

New plans of the proposed amalgamation call for an executive committee of 11, consisting of five growers, two canners, three packers and one shipper to launch the program.

Research in marketing lines during the past year have proved that there is no real surplus holding the prices of apricots to low levels. A seasonal surplus, that may be regulated by 100 per cent cooperation in the new federal scheme, is all that is making the farmers' crops a liability instead of a profitable pursuit.

Many local growers, uncertain as to the attitude of their neighbors, are asking that a meeting be called in the next few weeks in order that this district, one of the greatest 'cot producing areas in the state, may get in on the ground floor of this necessary stabilization plan.

CLUBS, BRICKS FLY IN YULE FRACAS AT DECOTO

Decoto, that nearby metropolis in which something is always happening, furnished the authorities with a little more excitement on Christmas day when Pedro Alcantes, Decoto resident became a case for medical treatment during a scuffle in which the participants beat each other over the head with bricks, oak firewood, and other improvised bludgeons that came to hand. Alcantez was taken from the fiasco in an unconscious state, and rushed to the office of a Centerville physician where he was treated for concussion and a severe cut over one eye.

According to reports, Alcantez was making his Christmas calls, and arrived at the home of a friend where the Yuletide cheer was flowing freely. A harmless argument at first, the affair soon assumed alarming proportions. Constable Tom Silva was dispatched to the scene and removed Alcantez. The other gladiators had fled the vicinity.

CHAMBER BIDS OLD YEAR FAREWELL AT MEETING TUESDAY

F. V. Jones Pleads That Group Have Wider Scope in 1934

Meeting for the last time in 1933, the Niles Chamber of Commerc Tuesday heard a timely and significant address by F. V. Jones president of the group, on the value of divorcing oneself from the errors of the past, other than to learn from those errors lessons that may be profitably used in dealing with the future. Jones pleaded that the civic group make a concerted effort during the coming year to be a truly representative body. He urged that the membership be widened. Jones stated that the group was a cohesive unit, well looked to by outsiders, but that he felt that it did not completely represent the municipality in that its membership was not of a sufficiently diversified character.

It was decided at the meet Tuesday that President Jones should attend a meeting held yesterday in Oakland to discuss plans for the resubmission of the county court house question before the voters. Some of the chamber members opposed the suggestion, saying that the will of the people had been clearly expresed and that Niles, in particular had voted the proposition down. Harvey Braun suggested that Jones attend merely to keep abreast of the movement even if no active participation should be taken in it.

The Rev. E. G. Brinkmeyer attended the meet and told the group that he had received the appointment to the Congregational church in Oroville. He regretted that Tuesday's meet was the last in which he would be able to take an active part. He stated that he had deeply appreciated and enjoyed the friendships he had made. The sentiment was expressed by various chamber members that Brinkmeyer's transfer would make a noticeable effect on the joviality of future meets. Genial and interested at all times, Brinkmeyer was a definite part of the civic group.

Next Tuesday George Licksteg of Oakland, will address the chamber on the possibilities of the new year.

NILES PASTOR GETS APPOINTMENT TO OROVILLE

The Rev. Mr. E. G. Brankmeyer will deliver his farewell sermon at the Congregational church in Niles Sunday, December 31. The sermon will be the last of a series of addresses on the gospel. Title will be: "Other Things Jesus Did." A large attendance is expected.

The Rev. E. G. Brinkmeyer, pastor of the Niles church for the past four years, has been appointed head of the Oroville Congregational church. The Brinkmeyers plan to leave Niles on January 4, in order that the Rev. Brinkmeyer may make his first appearance in his new pulpit on January 7.

No successor has as yet been appointed for the Niles church. Decision will be made sometime during the coming week.

The Rev. Brinkmeyer voiced his satisfaction in having served in Niles in the past.

The Congregational church at Oroville has a membership of 300, and has all the features of a larger urban church, including a pipe organ and a complete choir.

Junior Traffic Reserve Boys Feted at Party

One hundred nine boys and twenty-five advisors of the Junior traffic reserves of Mt. Eden, Livermore, Pleasanton, Centerville, Valle Vista and Ashland were entertained at a Christmas dinner party held at the Pleasanton grammar school cafeteria Tuesday evening of last week.

The boys were served a turkey dinner and with all its trimmings, prepared by Mrs. Mabel Rosa, of Pleasanton. A Christmas tree was decorated and Santa Claus distributed gifts, candy and fruit to the members of the patrols.

Yells were given by the patrol boys under the leadership of Robert Woodworth of the Livermore patrol.

An entertainment consisting of Japanese bamboo fights and Japanese wrestling, and also a boxing exhibition was presented by students of the Alameda high school.

The distinguished guests who were introduced by Judge Allen Norris, chairman of the evening were: Miss Lingren, of Valle Vista; Chief of Police Doten, Judge M. Clark and William Rees, of Livermore; Miss Anderson, secretary of the East Bay Safety Council, Mr. Bradeow, of Ashland; Captain Louis Eike, George Barron, of Hayward; and Elmer Steinmeyer, of the California State highway patrol; John Vasconcellas, of Mt. Eden; Lt. Laird, of Berkeley; and Sam Glassey, V. Bernard Johnson, John J. Amaral, of Pleasanton.

Local Woman Appointed to Take Questionaire Into Farm Homes.

Work was started in southern Alameda county this week on the Bureau of Home Economics and Extension Service of the Federal Department of Agriculture census to obtain information on farm housing conditions in the United States.

Mrs. Nell F. Meyers, of Niles, will carry on the work in this district. She was appointed as one of the eleven women in Alameda county, to make the survey. The work of the census is being carried on as part of the Civil Works Administration.

The purpose of the farm housing survey is to obtain information on farm housing conditions in the United States at the present time. Federal authorities, interested in securing a cross section of the living conditions of the rural population, instituted the survey at the present time in order that the unemployed might benefit from the work connected with it.

It is the contention of federal authorities that under the farm relief program, farm owners, heretofore unable to participate in active recovery due to financial strain, will be able to make farm improvements long needed. The federal government, in this survey of farm conditions, will become acquainted with the actual conditions, which fact will facilitate the distribution of low interest farm loans. The survey will show what improvements are needed, in order that plans may be worked out for low cost installation of water systems, bath rooms and built-in equipment.

The survey will take the form of a questionaire, which will be taken into every farm home in this district by Mrs. Meyers. The co-operation of farm owners is asked in order that the survey may be finished in the allotted five weeks' time. Mrs. Meyers, a resident here, well acquainted in the district, asks that the desired information be willingly given in order that she may complete her task in the time allotted.

Miss Phila Hansen is county chairman of the campaign.

This census, according to authorities, is the first attempt ever to be made by a government to discover the actual living conditions of the people, with the end in view of bettering those conditions.

CWA Project at High School Is Under Way

Arrangements are being made this week for the beginning of CWA work at the Washington Union high school at Centerville, it is said.

Twenty-five men are to be employed at the school in the construction of an athletic field, bonfire and barbecue pits. General rehabilitiation of the school grounds will also be done.

Materials for the construction will be furnished by the Board of Trustees. Labor will be paid with federal funds. It is said that the work will continue until sometime early in February.

That Bird!

By HELEN ST. BERNARD

"JIMMIE!" exulted Mrs. James Wellington Crandall. "He's a perfect treasure!"

"Ye-ah?" Mr. James Wellington Crandall's chin was elevated as he removed his collar before the mirror. "Who?"

"The new butler, of course. Our dinner is going to be ab-so-lutely perfect. Wait until Sally Marlette sees him. She's been looking for a new butler for months!"

"Knows his stuff, does he? I thought so by the way he took my coat when I came in. What's his name?"

"Hawks. Isn't that just too delightful? It sounds so English. But he's really all-American. And so courteous and mild-manered."

"All qualifications for the perfect butler, huh? Courteous and mild-mannered—Hawkins?"

"Hawks, darling, not Hawkins. I'm going down now. I'm just dying to see the centerpiece. And he made the most excellent suggestion serving the caviar—something really new."

"Well, run along while I get dressed. But don't set too much stock by that perfect treasure, Chris. New brooms sweep clean and all that . . . and he might not stay. Gee, you look like the star in the top of a Christmas tree in that dress."

"Thank you, Jimmie. You are a perfect . . ."

"Treasure! Me'n Hawks. And er . . . by the way, dear, you might ask him if he really knows how to mix cocktails."

"I say, Crandall," whispered Mr. Even Bullen over the dinner table. "Some cocktail. Potent! Delicious! Share the secret with me, won't you?"

Hawks was placing a plate of soup before the host.

"Possibly Hawkins here . . . I mean, Hawks . . . can. He concocted it. Sort of reminds me of one we used to have in France—back in 1917 and '18. We named it the Bullyvard Americaine. There was a captain in our outfit . . . in fact, he was my captain . . . and when he found I could throw the stuff together right he took it upon himself—that captain, I speak of . . . to appoint me as his personal bartender."

"Well, he was a captain—and I was a K. P., that's all.

"Hard-boiled! When he cussed he turned the air to indigo! A lady killer, too. There was one American girl in the canteen I was pretty keen for . . . Miriam Bedell of Omaha. I used to help her make bully-beef and cornwillie sandwiches and sweep out the canteen and all that, but she canned me for this captain. Of course, the two bars and Sam Browne belt sort of put the buck-private's uniform in the shade, but it hurt like the dickens. The American girls meant home to us . . . often wonder where Miriam is now."

"Perhaps she married the captain," suggested Christine.

"Oh, no, she wouldn't marry that bird. She just liked his uniform. And that wasn't all he did. He put me and my buddie, Scotty, in the brig because we were late getting into camp one night when our camion broke down and we had to bum a ride on a French farm-cart . . . and the very next week Scotty and I went to Paris on a three-day leave and we found that bird there—A. W. O. L.! Darned lucky for him we got sailing orders the day after we got back to the outfit."

"Did you ever see him again?"

"Thank you, Hawkins—Hawks!" as the butler placed a plate before him. "Oh, yes, I saw him again. The outfit came back on the same boat. The enlisted men were packed like sardines down in the hold and the second day out the ocean proceeded to turn upside down! I was in my berth praying the boat would sink quick, when that bird came down and made me mix him a Bullyvard Americaine . . . and then! He bawled me out for not saluting him! Hawks!"

"Yes, Mr. Crandall."

"More coffee, please."

And while Hawks stood at his elbow, Jimmie concluded his reminiscing.

"I said—right then and there—if I ever caught that bird west of the Statue of Liberty . . ."

It was a tragic face that confronted Jimmie Crandall when the last guest had left them. Christine's bare shoulders drooped dejectedly from the silver sheath that made her look like a star. In her hand she held a sheet of notepaper.

"Jim-mie," she wailed. "He's—gone!"

"Yeah?" James Wellington Crandall's chin was elevated as he removed his collar before the mirror. "Who?"

"The new butler, of course. And he was such a perfect . . . Jimmie Cran-dall! What was the name of—that captain—over there?"

Jimmie's back was turned as he still struggled with his collar.

"Oh, that bird? His name was Hawkins. Why?"

Alleged Swindler Claims Canadian Citizenship.

Shanghai.—Athens, Greece, famed city of the Near East, may have its Samuel Insull, but Shanghai, equally famed city of the Far East, now has its C. C. Julian. Julian, late of Oklahoma City, Los Angeles, Vancouver, and other undesignated points, arrived in Shanghai about a month ago and registered at a leading hotel, using the name T. R. King. Aside from the pseudonym, Julian made little effort at concealment. He went places and saw things, particularly those things and places designated by the tourist agencies as Shanghai's "night life."

His real identity was disclosed to the local American authorities by a Russian private detective, who applied to Dr. George Sellett, United States district attorney, for the $5,000 reward which was offered by the Oklahoma authorities for information leading to Julian's arrest.

Canadian Passport.

But those who went to an expensive room in Shanghai's leading Cathay hotel in the expectation of arresting Julian and obtaining the $5,000 reward, came away empty handed. Julian produced a Canadian passport, claimed Canadian citizenship and when the newspaper correspondents arrived on the scene, he poured each a liberal portion of whisky-soda and declared, "You can tell the United States to go to h—l. I'm a Canadian citizen and try and get me."

Julian denied swindling anybody, explaining that the oil "game" in the United States is quite similar to "gold rushes" where people must take chances. "In September, 1929, I was unfortunate enough to lose $12,000,000 in one deal. Looking for a place to recoup, I went to Oklahoma City and formed the C. C. Julian and Royalties company, which was evaluated by the American Appraisal company within eleven months at $11,000,000. But bad luck came my way and my company was forced into bankruptcy, and I was indicted by the federal government.

Claims He's Penniless.

"We were fighting five court cases, one of which was in Texas and another in Oklahoma City. I engaged lawyers to represent me, but soon discovered I was being betrayed. I decided it would be foolish for me to remain and be the goat in that Oklahoma City field episode, hence I decided to leave the country and come to Shanghai. My trial was scheduled to begin on February 6, but I departed the day before, traveling to the Orient by way of Vancouver. While in Japan I was considerably worried by being followed by secret police, but ceased to worry when I learned it was a custom of the country. I like Shanghai fine. It is wet and has many interesting forms of recreation. As soon as I decide what form of business to engage in I intend to recoup my fortune. Later I may return to the United States. Now I am penniless."

However, he has retained a battery of local European attorneys and intends to fight extradition proceedings.

In coming to Shanghai, Julian apparently was well advised, for Shanghai comes under what is popularly known as foreign extraterritorial jurisdiction. Foreigners residing in Shanghai generally are not subject to Chinese courts, but to the courts of the country to which they claim nationality.

Unless Julian has committed a crime in Canada he cannot be extradited to that country, and since his alleged crime was committed in the United States there doesn't appear to be any legal machinery whereby Canadian or British officials in China can turn him over to American officials in China for transportation

ROAD BUILDING TO SUPPLY MANY JOBS

Washington.—The becalmed road building industry is all set to embark on the largest national road building program the world has ever known, declares Charles M. Upham, executive-director of the American Road Builders' association.

"The minimum of $400,000,000 made available for road construction by the federal government can be placed at work without loss of time," says Mr. Upham.

"So far in 1933, road construction has been marking time awaiting federal money. Nevertheless, state and local road officials have been getting their plans in readiness.

"Because of this preparedness, the road building industry can be expected to provide immediate employment for thousands and thousands of men.

"The widespread employment offered by road building and its preparedness were recognized in congress by the removal of the limitation on highway funds. By setting a minimum of $400,000,000 for roads, congress has indicated possibly much more than that will be spent for roads. This is gratifying in the face of current road needs evidenced by congestion, accidents and high motor travel costs in many areas.

"It is indeed fortunate that highway building can again proceed at a rapid pace because news from Detroit and other motor cities indicates a decided pick-up in the automobile market.

"The industrial recovery act not only provides for the road surface improvement but also for bridges, separated highway and street intersections, street improvement, widened roads and streets and all facilities that make for safety and lessened congestion."

Up-to-Date Pied Piper Tells of Menace of Rats

San Francisco.—The greatest wild animal menace to the human race practically is ignored because humans generally do not realize the smartness and danger of rats.

Authority for this statement is Theodore Pannier, modern "Pied Piper," who has devoted his life to exterminating the rodents, not through the use of a bagpipe, but by means of poisons developed in his laboratory.

Pannier has plenty of opportunity to study rats, since San Francisco, like nearly all seaport towns, has an overabundance of them. He estimates there is a rat for each resident of the city.

"Rats are smart," he pointed out. "It is our business to outsmart them. If a rat has made his nest in the moulding near the ceiling he will not touch poisoned food placed there. He knows food is kept on the table or floor—not on the wall or in inaccessible places."

Orneriest Rodeo Horse Expires in Shame at 24

Billings, Mont.—Old Butterfly, "the orneriest, pitchingest horse that ever came out of a chute," is dead.

For 15 years Old Butterfly scattered riders over rodeo fields. He was nine years old when he discovered that it was easier to throw a rider from the saddle than to work, and for several years he was never ridden.

Last fall he made his farewell appearance. Twenty-four years old, he squealed with rage, as cowboys easily stuck to the saddle. His owner, Leo Cremer, attributed his death to brooding over this shame.

KNOW YOUR CALIFORNIA

EDITORIAL

It is pathetic but true that too few Californians know the wonders of their own state.

For years we have been spending thousands upon thousands of dollars upon advertising depicting to the outsider the wonders of the state. Southern Californians have their Lake Arrowhead, Palm Springs and other watering places. Northern California has Lake Tahoe, the redwoods and other points of interest.

In the south few know about the "out beyond," north of San Francisco. In the north few know about the many attractions of the south.

Along comes summer vacation time to Californians. What happens? If a trip is planned, it may be to the Grand Canyon, or the Hoover dam, or Reno, or a dozen and one other places outside of the state. That's the answer to why few Californians know all about the wonders of their own state.

It is high time we started seeing California first. If it's fishing our people want, there's a plenty. If it's scenery, we have an abundance. If it's quiet and rest, we can offer the finest in resorts at lakes, the mountains, the desert or seashore.

If the motorist is tired of driving, there are coastwise boats that offer splendid accommodations and can carry the vacationist to a dozen or more ports.

It is time we introduced our orange growers to the redwoods, our redwood belt residents to the orange trees; our inland residents to the seashore, and our seaport inhabitants to the desert and mountains.

Such an idea of "Know Your California" was presented to officers of the California Newspaper Publishers Association recently and there is a possibility that much may be done about it. The newspapers of California can make Californians conscious of the value of their own state as a summer playground. They can also point out the advantages to California residents in keeping dollars within the state.

This year there is another argument in favor of spending the vacation period in California. That is the matter of expense involved. Our roads are good. They save tire dollars. Our resorts are reasonable and fishing licenses cheap.

If we help each other in the state by an exchange of dollars we are lifting ourselves by the bootstraps from the doldrums toward that once mythical but now ever nearer goal of prosperity.

We hope that all Californians spend their vacations learning more about their own state through traveling about it. In addition to saving themselves money, providing a round-robin of money within the state, it will help all to know California and be more appreciative of the marvelous bounty nature has bestowed upon us.

Berlin Drug Store Is 275 Years Old

Berlin.—Berlin's oldest drug store, and one of the oldest in Europe, recently celebrated its two hundred and seventy-fifth anniversary.

Among its famous customers have been Bismarck, "The Iron Chancellor"; Theodore Fontaine, and the poet, Wilhelm Raabe.

The shop is the "Einborn Apotheke," in the heart of the old city. Through its almost 300 years of history it has changed little in appearance. The show-window decoration remains pretty much as it always was, with fantastic old remedies, such as "Devil's Dirt," "Dragon Blood," and "Vitriol of Iron" still on display, if not much in demand.

Prize Offered Writer of Peace Hymn Words

Boston.—The League of Nations association, with headquarters located here, has selected the first sixteen bars of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony as the tune for a new hymn of peace.

Instead of the words set to the strains as it appears in the Unitarian and Methodist hymn books, however, the association wants three verses that sing the glories of international amity. A prize and royalties are offered for such verses in a contest open until September 1.

CALIFORNIA AGRICULTURE

BY BILL HALL

(By WNU Service)

California agriculturalists turn their faces to the morning sun with a brighter hope today than for many years, according to signs of the times forecast by leaders in many individual industries.

The prune industry, with an improved price and a newspaper advertising campaign bringing in sales, looks to a bright 1933. Prune prices have increased about two cents a pound in 1933 from low levels of one-half to three-fourths of a cent during 1933. The value of the 1932 California prune crop was $9,204,000 from approximately 170,000 bearing acres, valued at $100,000,000 at current land values.

Along with other agricultural interests, the apricot industry is looking up. The opening prices for dried 'cots varied from 5½ to 8½ cents per pound, a full cent higher than last year's openers. Already these prices have advanced another cent, growers report.

Approximately 85 per cent of the income from poultry in California is derived from the sale of eggs.

Experts from the Agricultural Extension Service, University of California, have discovered that barley stripe disease can be controlled.

"Barley stripe disease," says Professor B. H. Cocheron, director of the service, "has become widespread in California during the last four years. Numbers of infected plants in fields vary from few to 57 per cent. These infected plants are a total loss. They may be completely killed at any stage of growth, from seedlings to matured plant, but at best the plant will produce only very shriveled dark colored kernels."

The service recommends for control of the disease: in heavy infestations, dusting of seed with a mecuric compound, ceresan, at the rate of five ounces of dust to each 100 pounds of seed; if light infestation, thorough dusting with copper carbonate at the rate of five ounces of dust to 100 pounds of seed.

Barley seed should be treated each year with a fungicide to keep down the percentage of smut.

California farmers are expected to directly benefit from the new federal farm mortgage legislation. Farmers in this state owe some $540,000,000 on farm mortgages; mostly to Californians.

The new federal bill is expected to help through reduction of interest rates; deferring, where necessary, that part of the payment on Land Bank mortgages which is for retirement of principal, for a period of not to exceed five years, and greater borrowing possibilities.

California avocado growers are expected to make between $1 and $1.50 a box on their product this season, according to co-operative association officials. A partial refund is now paying out 60 cents per field box on all deliveries, in addition to regular pool payments and to the revolving fund credit.

Several price rises have been made on Fuertes lately, which have strengthened the price structures on other calavo varieties. With the better prices, prospects of a record crop and greatly lowered costs per pound next season and with the relatively light withdrawal, the outlook for orderly marketing next season is regarded as very promising.

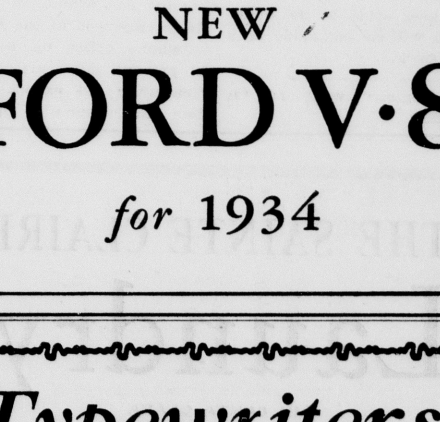
"During the past few years we have seen shrinkages in values of all kinds. However, it is interesting to note that Good Will has never suffered a "mark-down."

"Newspaper advertising as a builder of Good Will is without parallel. I like to compare newspaper advertising campaigns with the operations of heavy artillery units in the army. For example, when the introduction of a new product is underway, or where conditions of competition are particularly keen, a heavy bombardment of copy comparable to the action of the heaviest U. S. Army guns, the 12-inch rifles, used for heavy battery efforts, is the effective method. Where the objective is supplementary, or the sustaining of Good Will, the '155 mm. gun' type of publicity could be successfully applied. While, in the case of a follow-up campaign, or 'flash' copy, the '75 mm. gun' type of campaign is indicated, for, in this case, the resistance is nominal.

"It is likely that during these days of recovery newspaper advertising is proving effective to a greater degree than ever before. The reason lies in the fact that the flexibility of newspaper advertising permits the advertiser to meet conditions as they develop from day to day, plus the fact that the public is 'news minded' to an exceptionally high degree at the present time.

"EACH DAY, THEREFORE, THE FACT THAT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING IS ONE OF THE MOST VITAL FACTORS IN OUR ECONOMIC LIFE IS BECOMING MORE APPARENT."

Let the car speak for itself



HUNDREDS of thousands of people now own and drive Ford V-8 cars. Some neighbor or friend of yours has one. If we told you what we think of the car, you might say we are prejudiced, so we let the car and its owner tell you.

Economy of operation is one of the first points they will emphasize—the owner will boast of it and the car will prove it.

The 1934 car is even better than the 1933—and that was our best car up to its time. The new car is more beautiful—faster—more powerful—gives more miles to the gallon—better oil economy—is easier riding—cheaper to own and operate than any car we ever built.

You owe it to yourself and your pocketbook to ask our Ford Dealer to let you see this car, and let you drive it for yourself. At the wheel of the car you will be sure to reach a right decision. The Ford V-8 will tell you its own story.

The gift seedlings are being tended at the school until they are of sufficient size to set out.

They will be incorporated in the small area south of the buildings which will be set aside as a miniature park.

HISTORIC POPLAR FALLS BENEATH AXE AND SAW

Estimated by old timers to be more than a century old, the huge poplar in front of the Gregory house was this week cut down in sections by state crews with the assistance of the telephone company.

Old residents state that the tree must have been planted long before the town of Centerville was a reality. Some guessed that it had been planted during the years of the Mission-Alvarado stage coach system.

According to reports, the old tree kept the street in an untidy state with its falling leaves and debris. It was also interfering with the telephone cables.

The main street has a singularly barren appearance now that the gnarled branches have been stricken from the skyline.

We Beat the Deutsch!

NO, this headline doesn't refer to the World War, or even to an actual accomplishment, but to an event which is about to take place. In a few more years we will have caught up with Germany in our consumption of sauerkraut. Her lead over us now, is only about 15,000 tons a year, and at the present rate of increase in our consumption we will beat the Deutsch in another couple of years!

In 1931 we consumed 144,000,000 pounds of this delicacy, and last year our consumption increased to 154,000,000 pounds. Not only are we eating sauerkraut now, but we are drinking sauerkraut juice because of its healthful qualities. The commercial canning industry has made this easy by supplying us with the best sauerkraut and sauerkraut juice in canned form.

Here are good ways to serve sauerkraut which you may not know about:

Two Good Recipes

Creamed Sauerkraut: Sauté three tablespoons sliced onions and four tablespoons shredded green pepper in three tablespoons fat until pale yellow. Add three tablespoons flour, and stir smooth. Add two cups milk slowly, stirring until thick and creamy. Season to taste with salt and pepper, add two cups canned sauerkraut, and heat thoroughly. Serves six.

Corned Beef and Sauerkraut: Use two No. 2 cans of sauerkraut and one 12-ounce can of corned beef. Put alternate layers of sauerkraut and corned beef broken into large pieces in a baking dish. Bake in a moderate—375°—oven for about fifteen minutes. This serves six persons.*

Why Hospitals Use a Liquid Laxative

Hospitals and doctors have always used liquid laxatives. And the public is fast returning to laxatives in liquid form. Do you know the reasons?

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can be controlled. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative brings a perfect movement, and there is no discomfort at the time, or after.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it! And the habitual use of irritating salts, or of powerful drugs in the highly concentrated form of pills and tablets may prove injurious.

A week with a properly prepared liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will tell you a lot. A few weeks' time, and your bowels can be "as regular as clockwork." Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is an approved liquid laxative which all druggists keep ready for use. It makes an ideal family laxative; effective for all ages, and may be given the youngest child. DECOTO BEATEN BY NILES C OF C'S 16-6 SUNDAY

Playing a brand of ball that drove Decoto pitchers to distraction, and Decoto infielders to throwing wild, the Niles C of C's Sunday wiped up their Decoto opponents to a tune of 16 to 6.

Niles started bunting in the third inning, and much to the dismay of the Decoto boys, scored, 13 runs with 9 bunts. Evidently rattled by the insidious Niles attack, Decoto pitchers gave out many free trips to first.

Ray Duarte pitched stellar ball for eight innings. He allowed 6 hits and struck out 7 men.

PROTECTED DUCKS GOBBLE XMAS BOUNTY

A whirl of green heads and burnished wings, the mallard ducks owned by Lawrence Bunting last week gobbled up their Christmas bounty, when Bunting distributed corn along the banks of the gravel pit lakes on which the game fowl make their home. Broken here and there by the sooty back of a mudhen, the eager ducks swarmed out of the water to scoop up the last kernel.

Fully protected, and realizing that they are in sanctuary, the ducks have multiplied this year according to Bunting. He stated that marauders disturbed the birds several times during the last nesting season, and that strict watch will be kept henceforth.

The protected ponds, with their flotillas of carefree ducks have attracted considerable attention, and much favorable comment has been passed.

The migration of the oak trees away from the hill tops in past centuries is proved by the situation of communal Indian grinding stones on the high hill slopes where oak trees no longer grow. The best example of these grinding stones to be found near Niles at the present time is at the head of Morrison canyon, on the Vieux ranch.

Legion District Meet To Be Held Here January 24

Wednesday evening, January 24, has been the date set for the American Legion Post district meeting to be held at the Pleasanton Veteran's Memorial building, with the Pleasanton boys acting as hosts.

An elaborate affair is being planned by the local buddies. A big parade with drum corps, drill teams, the 40 and 8 box car, and Legionnaires in uniform will be in the line of march. About seven hundred Legionnaires and their families in Alameda county are are expected to attend.

Jack Simonds is chairman of the committee in charge and is being assisted by Clay Elworthy and other members of the post.

The Washington parlor of the Native Sons of the Golden West at Centerville was organized December 18, 1890.

"Yes, Ann, and everyone is satisfied. I had these rooms redecorated and Jack has his Natural Gas furnace."
"Why, Jane, you have just done wonders in fixing up this room."

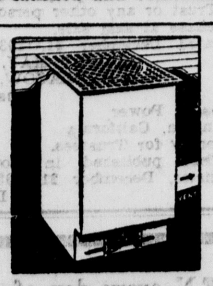
Natural Gas
Naturally THE BETTER FUEL

IN practically every one of the thousands of gas appliance installations that have been made this winter—a man had to be sold and a woman had to be satisfied. Each had very definite ideas about house heating before anything new was bought and put into use.

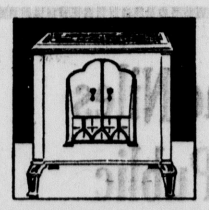
Natural Gas Heating satisfies a woman first of all because of its cleanliness. She knows Natural Gas Heating helps make her housework easier because it brings in no dirt and creates none.

Men like Natural Gas Heating because ordering and delivering is automatic. Natural Gas comes piped directly to the furnace or gas appliance. Men, of course, know the easy control of a gas fire means economy as well as greater comfort.

Why not get an estimate on the cost of Natural Gas Heating equipment for your home? Remember, too, that the equipment needed for your home can be purchased on term payments. Only a small down payment is needed. Why not be satisfied and comfortable in your home this winter?



Circulating Heater
Attractive, low in first cost and highly efficient. It heats two to four rooms. Made in many sizes and styles. Extremely economical to operate.



Floor Furnace
Solves the heating problem for homes without a basement. Highly praised by thousands. Saves floor space and is easy and most economical to install and operate.

Amador Althletes are Given Awards by Coach Patterson

Athletic awards were given to the athletes of the Amador Valley high school at an assembly held at the high school gym last Friday afternoon by Coach George Patterson.

The awards were earned during the 1933 football season. This year it was possible for the freshmen class to turn out quite a respectable football team. Though lacking experience, they had the best material that any class has had as a unit, since the class of 1933. They played as a freshmen team against the Danville team composed of a sophomore and freshman group and held them to a scoreless tie. They were defeated 14 to 7 by the sophomore Dons early in the season, but turned the tables in the return match in the final week of football by winning 14 to 7.

and Ernie Bernard and Bert Wil-

Varsity stars were awarded to Arnold Abrott, Ed Dolstra, Harold Kamp, and Lincoln Madsen, seniors; Fred Dutra, John Perry Joseph Peters, Jim Sorensen and Alfred Haller, juniors; and Andrew Cintrone, sophomore.

The Rev. and Mrs. E. G. Brinkmeyer will leave Niles on January 4. The Rev. Mr. Brinkmeyer has been appointed pastor of the Congregational church in Oroville.

Now! Ease Sore Throat Instantly!

1 Crush and dissolve 3 Bayer Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water.

2 GARGLE thoroughly — throw your head way back, allowing a little to trickle down your throat.

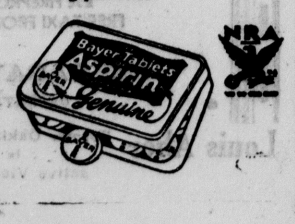
3 Repeat gargle and do not rinse mouth, allow gargle to remain on membranes of the throat for prolonged effect.

Remember: Only Medicine Helps Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes!

It requires medicine—like BAYER ASPIRIN- to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout America are prescribing this BAYER gargle in place of old-time ways.

Be careful, however, that you get real BAYER Aspirin for this purpose. For they dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles.



First National Bank To Take Over Accounts of Amador Valley Savings

The First National Bank of Pleasanton, through Claude Smallwood cashier, announced last week that a letter would be sent to the depositors of the Amador Valley Savings Bank within the next few days outlining the details of the plan whereby sixty per cent of the deposits in that institution would be made available at once through a credit to be established on the books of the First National Bank in favor of the depositors of the Amador either in an interest bearing account or in a checking account. The balance of forty per cent of depositors' claims would be paid by the Conservator as assets belonging to the Amador are liquidated.

Smallwood stated that it was a matter of great pleasure to the officers and directors of The First National Bank that their plans to free depositors of the Amador had met with the approval of Federal and State authorities and just as soon as the details for the handling of the transaction can be completed the actual transfer of funds would be made.

As announced recently in the columns of The Times, The First National Bank has followed the leadership of many of the largest banks in the country and has become a "Government-Partnered Bank" through the sale of stock to the R. F. C. This stock purchase by the R. F. C. doubles the capital stock of the local institution.

"We feel," Smallwood states, "that as Jesse Jones, chairman of the R. F. C. has said, 'for the Government to be willing to buy stock in a bank and advertise to the world that it is a partner in that bank is the greatest compliment and source of strength that could come to any bank."

This assurance of stability and soundness, Smallwood continued, "plus the insurance deposit feature that goes into effect the first of the year, we feel, places The First National Bank in an impregnable position to serve the banking needs of this community."

A number of friends of Ed gathered in the afternoon and spent a few hours in social conference, after which a dinner was served.

Hoot Owl a Noble Bird and Is Farmers' Helper

In the dusk of evening up and down the wooded valleys of our midwest streams and creeks can be heard the eerie, weird call of the long-eared or hoot owl, observes a writer in Our Dumb Animals. He is liable to be heard any time of year but oftenest in summer or autumn. He is a noble bird and man's friend. He usually has his nest in the forks and hollows of large trees and because of his nocturnal habits and unobtrusive ways he should survive many more decades. His prey consists largely of field mice and chipmunks which are very destructive to fresh planted corn, yet where the owl is these pests are scarce. He will occasionally get young groundhogs and this trait should entitle him to protection. He is also a good weather prophet. If several of his kind take turns at calling and appear to be answering each other from different points up and down the creek during the evening and their calls are a little louder than common, a rain is not far off.

Elephant Makes Own Fan

The elephant is said to be the only animal that makes a real implement. It is not uncommon for one of these big animals to pick up a branch of a tree, strip it of all its leaves but a few at the end, and use it as a fan to brush away flies.

Run Provides Rare Sport

Salmon, Idaho.—Rare sport prevailed here during the spring run of Chinook salmon, bringing up fish weighing from 30 to 40 pounds. R. L. Swanson was envied by all when he speared a salmon weighing 48 pounds.

CAVERN MAY LINK INDIANS TO ASIA

Man Stalking Moose Makes Interesting Discovery.

Edmonton, Alta.—Deep in a weird solitude known as Dead Man's valley, where hot springs encourage exotic plant growths in odd contrasts to the firs and pine of the North, a trapper has found a cliff dwelling which may definitely link North American Indians with Mongol tribesmen.

Ed Clausen, known as "The Lone Wolf of the Barrens," made the discovery.

While trailing a wounded moose he encountered a pathway down the face of a cliff. Turning down the path he came to a giant room cut from the rock, some 75 feet below the crest of the cliff and 150 feet above the valley floor.

An aperture permitted light to enter the room. Clausen discovered a chimney cut through the rock to the upper surface of the cliff. Animals apparently had used the room as a refuge and resting place for centuries.

The trapper did not remain long in the place. Anxious to make his way back to camp, he did not take time to search for tools or implements which might have been left in the room. He did make an examination which assured him that the room had been hewn from the rock by humans, and was no natural formation.

Prof. E. A. Corbett of the University of Alberta, an authority on North American Indians, said that the discovery might be of greatest importance.

It may substantiate a theory that Mongols left their Asiatic homes 20,000 years ago, crossed the Bering straits, traveled to the Mackenzie river district, then spread southward along the eastern slope of the Rocky mountains to populate this continent with aboriginal tribesmen.

Flyer Reports on Ruins Under Dead Sea Surface

San Francisco.—An R. A. F. officer stationed at Abukir reports that while flying over the bay he saw ruins below the water, says the San Francisco Chronicle. Fishermen confirmed the existence of two groups of ruins, each comprising several columns. Prince Omar Toussoun undertook investigations with the help of a diver.

Several columns were identified standing on the bottom in three fathoms of water and apparently of red granite. The diver brought up several fragments of stone, one of which proved to be a finely chiseled head of Alexander the Great, apparently designed as a wall adornment.

An R. A. F. officer stationed at Amman while flying over the southern part of the Dead sea some time ago distinctly saw a town lying beneath the water. The surface of the sea is usually ruffled and covered with scum from submarine bitumen deposits, but on this occasion it was exceptionally calm and clear. It is surmised that the origin of the story of the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah may here be revealed.

Shipload of Rum May Rise From Sea

Hoquiam, Wash.—Fire water may rise up from the sea if the appearance of masts at low water in the Quinalt river are to be taken as a criterion.

In 1899 the French barque, Ernest Rei, was grounded in the mouth of the river in a fog. It was loaded with choice French liquors. Indians for some months partook of the cargo, but storms sunk the craft.

Storms lately, however, have caused the barque to rise up from the sands again.

Indians recall that although they drank copiously, they consumed only a small portion of the cargo before the boat sank 34 years ago.

Trapper, 83 Years Old, Says He Has No Future

Ortonville, Mich.—Henry Rodenbough, an Oakland county trapper for 72 years, has decided that his vocation has no future.

"But I guess I'll stick with it until I'm a hundred years old and then retire," Rodenbough, eighty-three, said recently. He set his first trap when eleven years old and caught a marten, mink, gray fox, and muskrats.

"But, of course, there is a lot of fun to trapping. I had a trap line 35 miles long when I was a young man and I covered it every day."

Despite his advanced age, Rodenbough still covers a two-mile line during the trapping season. During the depression, however, much of his time has been spent in explaining the intricacies of his trade to unemployed men.

Twenty-four married men of Pleasanton were put to work last Thursday morning on the state highway between Livermore and Mission San Jose, as part of the California Works Administration project.

Officers of the state re-employment service were in Pleasanton Wednesday assigning the work to the men who had been notified previously.

Work was assigned first to the married men having children and later on those having signed up for the work will be employed. The men meet at the Southern Pacific depot at seven o'clock in the morning and are picked up by a CWA truck which takes them to their work.

NOTHING DOES SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE AS YOUR TELEPHONE

Like a pathway to your door

IN THE affairs of daily living your telephone is one of your most frequently-used helpers.

But your telephone is more. It invites the voices of friends.

The calls you receive, no less than the calls you send, are an important part of your telephone's value to you.

Four Tempting Desserts—

Two Pennies a Portion

DELICIOUS desserts costing only two pennies a portion seem hardly credible. But to find such economy in desserts which will get an encore from the family is enough to fill homemakers with a sense of real achievement.

For all housewives know how difficult it is to find recipes which combine economy with appetite-appeal.

Here they are. A strawberry whip and a rhubarb mold to make a little of the season's fruit go a long but delicious way. There is double economy in this smooth, rich chocolate cream and butterscotch cream. They are packed with nourishment so serve them to wind up a very simple, inexpensive dinner.

Strawberry Whip

1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 cup warm water
1 cup strawberry juice
1 cup strawberries, crushed and drained
1/3 cup sugar

Dissolve gelatin in warm water. Add strawberry juice. Chill until cold and syrupy. Place in bowl of cracked ice or ice water and whip with rotary egg beater until fluffy and thick like whipped cream. Fold in strawberries and sugar Turn into mold. Chill until firm Unmold. Serves 10.

Rhubarb Delight

½ cup sugar
½ cup water
3 cups rhubarb, cut in small pieces
1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
Dash of salt

Combine sugar and water and heat until sugar is dissolved. Add rhubarb and simmer until tender Measure; add water to make 2 cups. Dissolve gelatin in warm rhubarb mixture. Add salt Turn into mold. Chill until firm. Unmold. Serves 4.

Berkshire Pudding

3 squares unsweetened chocolate, cut in pieces
3 cups milk
¾ cup sugar
6 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Add chocolate to milk in double boiler and heat. When chocolate is melted, beat with rotary egg beater until blended. Combine sugar, flour, and salt. Add a small amount of chocolate mixture, stirring vigorously Return to double boiler and cook until thickened, stirring constantly Then cook 20 to 25 minutes longer stirring occasionally Add vanilla. Chill and serve with cream. Serves 6.

Butterscotch Cream

4 tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
½ teaspoon salt
4 cups milk, scalded
2 eggs, well beaten
4 tablespoons butter
2/3 cup brown sugar, firmly packed

Add tapioca and salt to milk. Cook in double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Pour small amount of tapioca mixture over eggs, stirring vigorously. Return to remaining tapioca and cook until mixture thickens, stirring constantly. Remove from over hot water Melt butter and sugar in saucepan and cook until sugar is completely dissolved and mixture bubbles. Add to tapioca mixture, stirring vigorously until blended. Chill. Serves 8.
